THE RAILWAY HORROR

Suspicion That More People are Under the Wreck

THAN HAVE BEEN EXTRACTED.

The Flint Glass Strike—Chloroformed and Robbed—A Wise Minister—Bismarck Denies—Etc.

The Railway Disaster.

CINCINNATI, January 3.—J. H. Auri, one of the victims of the railroad accident on the Southern road, died at his residence in Covington, Kentucky, and his wife is reported to be in a dying condition. Others of the wounded are doing well. A special from Greenwood, Ky., says the fear grows hourly that the most terrible part of the story of Saturday's wreck remains to be told. As time wears on and the wreck is being cleared, the presence of more victims in the debris becomes apparent. When the wreck occurred a number of passengers who were in the ladies' coach and smoking car on the north-bound train succeeded in making their escape from the cars with trifling injuries. Just who they are and how many is not known. Last night a horrible mistake was discovered, when the bones of two unfortunate were found reduced almost to ashes, buried with the burned cars. There is absolutely nothing by which they can be identified, and it is not certain whether the bones are those of male, female or both. C. C. Gillespie, of Beaver, a small settlement near this place, visited the wreck last night. While digging in the ruins he discovered hair attached to the scalp of a woman. The flesh of course was burned away, but the beautiful long locks are in a good state of preservation. Almost in the same spot where the hair was found, Gillespie found a child's shoe. The other shoe has not yet been found, neither has any account been given of the loss of the child. A little deeper in the debris in the same spot where the hair and shoe were found, Gillespie picked up a letter. It was written in a good plain hand, dated at St. Augustine, Fla., addressed to "Dear Lulu," and signed Bena. There is nothing in the letter to give any clue to the name of the writer or receiver, and the envelope, unfortunately, cannot be found. After the accident, search was made for an unknown man who was seen to enter the toilet room of the ladies' coach of the north-bound train, an instant before the crash came. He was never seen again, and all efforts to find him prove futile. It is believed he was unable to get out of the little apartment, and was burned to death in the car. It is believed that the bones found last night are those of a man and a woman. The child was probably with its mother, and died with her, its body being found in the debris.

The Flint Glass Strike.

PITTSBURGH, January 3.—H. Sellers McKee, a prominent flint glass manufacturer, in an interview, states that the number of firms which will shut down their glass factories, on account of the trouble with their employees, was 43, and the number of skilled workmen employed over 8,000, to which should be added 2,000 or 3,000 other workmen, making a total of 10,000 or 11,000 men whom the shut-down will throw out of employment. The workmen, other than those actually engaged in making and shaping glass, would probably work until the stock in hand was exhausted. It is understood the difficulty is to be solved by a committee from the flint glass workers' association, whose decision is to be final for the workmen in all cases.

Chloroformed and Robbed.

CHICAGO, January 3.—Dr. Edward Bert, his wife, a 17-year-old daughter and a servant, were chloroformed while asleep in their elegant home on Vernon Avenue last night, and were unaware until they awoke with aching heads, that the house had been ransacked from top to bottom by burglars. Every room in the house was thoroughly searched, including the boudoir of Miss Bert, but strangely nothing is missing, save a gold watch worth $350 belonging to the doctor; over $1,800 worth of jewelry was left undisturbed.

To Suppress the Dublin League.

DUBLIN, January 3.—A special and protracted meeting of the Privy Council was held to-day. Balfour and Prince Edward, of Saxe-Weimar, commander of the forces in Ireland, were present. It is stated that the council decided to suppress the league in Dublin, and thus cripple the central executive.

A Wise Minister.

LONDON, January 2.—The Times' correspondent at St. Petersburg says the new finance minister's budget estimates the surplus at several million pounds. This is partly due to the decrease in military estimates. The minister's report to the czar emphasizes the necessity of peace as a means of developing the country's resources.

Bismarck Denies.

BERLIN, January 3.—Prince Bismarck has written a letter to Prince William, son of the Crown Prince, denying the reports that either he or Count Herbert Bismarck had any connection with the rumors regarding the Berlin mission meeting at Count Waldersee's house.

Don't

Let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.

The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and know how it is themselves. Bottles only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

The Prince's Throat.

BERLIN, January 2.—Prof. Thiersch of Leipzig University, has published an opinion that according to recent accounts from San Remo, the Crown Prince's malady cannot be of a cancerous nature.

Paris, January 2.—La Liberte, in an unusually courteous and kindly-disposed article, congratulates the Crown Prince upon his improving symptoms. The paper expresses the hope that this will prove to the Crown Prince an auspicious harbinger of the new year.

Fire.

New York, January 2.—By a fire to-night, Simon & Streblitz, importers; Bosner Brothers, commission; Mahler & Meyer, commission; Caxton Book-binding Company; Topman & Co., auctioneers; A. S. Higgins & Co., carpet manufacturers, and others, were damaged to the extent of $100,000.

WATERBURY, Conn., January 2.—The plant of the Seymour Manufacturing Company, at Seymour, eleven miles from here, burned to-night. The loss is heavy.

NOT LEGITIMATE BUSINESS.

Our attention has been called by Mr. J. A. Goodhue, who has, for a number of years represented the Geneva Nursery in this region, to a small handbill which we are informed has been widely distributed throughout the Territory. It is a curiosity in its way, and the object which prompted its issuance is too palpable to be mistaken. It is headed "Utah Nursery Company," an organization which, we understand, constitutes the agency in this part of the country for the aforesaid Geneva Nursery. It also presents the names of the stockholders of the association as follows: Phillip A. Dix, Justin A. Goodhue, Charles S. Varian and Frank Pierce. The third name on the list is, for obvious reasons, rendered conspicuous by underscoring with a heavy black line.

The remainder of the handbill is devoted to an explanation to the effect that "C. S. Varian" (with a heavy line under the name), "associated with Mr. J. A. Goodhue, who has been representing the Geneva Nursery Company," did on a certain date make a statement derogatory to the "Mormon" Church. Mr. Varian's expression, which it is unnecessary to reproduce, is given verbatim.

It is hardly needful to state that the handbill is anonymous, because it will be patent to any person who will give it a moment's consideration that it is not such a publication as an ordinary individual would have any appreciable eagerness to affix his name to. Being of that character it can only be properly viewed with contempt.

We cannot sustain any process that is not direct and straightforward, and there can be no justification for an attempt to build up a business on the ruins of another.

In expressing this view we believe we give utterance to the sentiment of the Latter-day Saints at large. It cannot be admitted to the legitimate province of private individuals to, anonymously or otherwise, drag into business matters the public utterances of other persons for the ulterior purpose of increasing their pecuniary profits. Such a process is imbedded in selfishness, with no reference to the public good.

So emphatic is the News on this point that if application had been made to have any publication printed here of the character of the one in question, it would have been respectfully declined on the ground that this office could not give it, even in a business way, the color of its approval.

An appeal to the prejudice of the community to further private ends, is highly improper, and can have no ultimate beneficial effect upon the interests of those who resort to it. Mr. Varian's views are his own property and there is a legitimate method of dealing with his utterances. That is not the method employed in this instance, and we have given this prominence to it because the public manner in which it has been treated, by the distribution of handbills, has made it public property, and we do not wish an idea to gain currency that such doings have sanction or countenance of the community of Latter-day Saints.—News.

Notice.

Whereas, certain parties are and have been trying to injure the business of the Utah Nursery Company by certain false claims, I publish the enclosed.

SALT LAKE, December 24, 1887.

J. A. Goodhue, Esq.:

Dear Sir—Referring to the attack made by A. Milton Musser upon you and your business I have only to say, that I have not a share of the stock of the Utah Nursery Company, nor any interest therein. I did subscribe for one hundred of the 50,000 shares in order to incorporate the company, but with no purpose of investment and the stock was never issued to me.

Very truly yours,

C. S. VARIAN.

The Utah Nursery Company was organized to do a legitimate business, and hope by honest and fair means to hold the trade they now have and increase it.

J. A. GOODHUE, Manager.
